

I have no problem having the airspace change to class E during the hours that ATCT is not in operation.